

Greetings to all Rolling Pin Cruise readers!

It is a pleasure to work in a field with such a tight-knit group of people. Although many have compared the experience of working on a ship to a "family" atmosphere amongst their peers, the family aspect actually extends beyond the vessels themselves, and to the source from which they were constructed.

The communications between the designers, ship builders, ship owners and the staff that runs them is of utmost importance, as we all have one common goal in sight, a safe, beautiful, functional ship that will entertain its global guests for many years. It is a pleasure to see the end result of the fruits of countless labors when a ship graces the water for the first time. I would like to extend my gratitude to all of our dedicated employees at Lloyd's Shipyard, as well as to all of the people in this sensational industry that continue to provide unforgettable vacations on some of the most beautiful vessels afloat.
