

Dear Reader:

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to this issue of Rolling Pin Cruise. I know you will find it good reading and informative.

If you are a regular reader you know that the magazine's subhead—Connecting Ship, Shore & You—means that hospitality professionals in the cruise industry use this unique magazine to update themselves on important career decisions and to find out just what's new in cruising today and what is on the horizon. If you are a new reader, just turn the pages and see what we are talking about. You will like it.

I am honored that Marketing Director Simon Worgotter suggested that I write this opening letter. I am a great fan of Rolling Pin Cruise. It has become an important personnel tool for SeaDream Yacht Club. Quite simply, it is read by the crème de la crème of the cruise hospitality field. It is perhaps even more important to us, as a very small operator of the twin ultraluxury yachts, SeaDream I and II, than to some of the larger operators who have vast personnel staffs.

So please enjoy this fine issue of Rolling Pin Cruise.

Sincerely,
